Complaint

Wagner, Falconer & Judd (WFJ) is the representative in MN for Prepaid Legal.

During my three years with prepaid legal I've asked politely if they could help me out. But when they got wind of David Copperfield case, Dan Smith told me I had no chance of winning and shame on me for even attempting to do so. Shame on me for attempting to bring to light something very important in this world called godly powers and shame on me for trying to get compensated for the use of godly powers and magic shows which produce solutions that some would say defy explanation. I've attempted to explain these matters so right off the bat within the first month of WFJ, Dan Smith is upset at what I'm doing. Dan Smith c/o WFJ had conflict of interest me ever since I started with prepaid legal. That during my endeavors over the three years with them I would run into roadblocks...

1. If I asked for free help pro bono from Dan Smith and WFJ, which they give people for some cases, they of course didn't have any openings for me, and of course wouldn't have openings for years. There was always an answer of "No Chris" or "that's probably not going to work" for anything that could help me.

2. Constant arguments with Dan Smith aimed at keeping me down, preventing me from winning, and criticizing everything I do.
3. Dan Smith states "You need to stop bothering people, Chris!", or "in that other case, they have a claim for relief, but you, Chris, you do not have claim for relief, in any of your cases.
4. Concerning Bosley, the last conversation with WFJ indicated there is no need to escalate the negative judgment from small claims court to District Court, as judges always decide the same way - appeals are unnecessary. Wow, what an idiot Smith is! And that's a fact, not an allegation, under penalty of perjury.
5. The intensity of runaround in Dan Smith's voice was immense. There was no doubt that WFJ should not be representing me.

When I sued General Electric in 2005, WFJ had a conflict of interest because they represented GE. So WFJ are allowed to get out of the way and refer me to somebody else when there is a conflict of interest. But if WFJ has a conflict of interest with me in general, they should not be consulting me. I've lost many cases as a result of the fraud, suing for $trillions.

During the last moments with Prepaid Legal, I had a problem with Bosley and some hair transplants. I tried seeking some other legal help from another law firm. In a few days, the law firm sent me a letter stating they could not represent me. There was a conflict of interest - the same conflict of interest that WFJ has with me - for the entire time I was with Prepaid legal. During the process there has been some sound advice coming from the lawyers from WFJ, but not Dan Smith, the chief lawyer at the firm, whom I talked with almost 50% of the time.

WFJ will no longer honor a new membership with prepaid legal because there is a conflict of interest. For many reasons as I've explained there is a conflict of interest with Dan Smith and WFJ and Prepaid Legal in dealing with Chris Roller. They should not be giving him advice when the intent was to lose - always hoping for the worst, while giving bad intentions and bad advise for Chris Roller. I'm suing WFJ c/o Dan Smith for conflict of interest with me. He should not have represented me in my quest for knowledge in my legal endeavors for which I lost all of them worth $trillions.

I want justice on this planet. The first part of justice is getting truth, and you've heard it - I've mentioned 100% truth in this document, under penalty of perjury. With this truth that means there have been violations for which claims I stated should seek financial remedy. I'm suing WFJ for $1 million for fraud and discrimination.

Respectfully submitted,
